

Professional Development Policy

1 Purpose

To provide appropriate training and developmental opportunities for Employees.

2 Scope

This policy applies to all Employees.

3 Policy Statement

The University is committed to providing training and development programs that increase the capability, experience, performance, and future career opportunities of the workforce, within budgetary constraints.

4 Principles

The professional development principles of the University are:

- The University is committed to providing Employees with opportunities to develop:
 - capabilities that improve performance and assist in the achievement of the University's objectives.
 - career goals and participate in career development activities that extend and enhance the Employee's capabilities and capacity for advancement within the University.
- All newly appointed Employees (except for exam Supervisors, dissertation markers and teaching practicum Supervisors ("prac teachers")) must participate in the relevant Onboarding program, to adjust to working at the University.
- Employees are required to complete all mandatory compliance training requirements identified by the University.
- Employee development is a shared responsibility between the Employee and their Supervisor, normally formalised through the University's performance planning and review process.

- Supervisors are responsible for:
 - reviewing development needs of Employees and assisting Employees to identify and develop plans to meet these needs
 - providing appropriate support and resources to enable development opportunities for Employees, within budgetary limitations
 - supporting Employees in the application of new skills and providing career progression and advancement opportunities.
- Employees are responsible for:
 - engaging in discussions with their Supervisor to identify career goals, and develop plans to meet these needs
 - actively seeking opportunities to maintain and enhance skills, knowledge, and qualifications relevant to their responsibilities.
