

Administrative Access Scheme Policy

1 Purpose

To establish the management framework that governs the Administrative Access Scheme allowing access to information, held by the University, without the need for a formal application under the Right to Information Act 2009 (Qld) (RTI Act) or the Information Privacy Act 2009 (Qld) (IP Act).

2 Scope

This policy applies across the University and to the public.

3 Policy Statement

The University recognises the need to provide its Students and Employees and the public with access to information, held by the University, through a streamlined administrative process that is an alternative to the regulated or legislative process.

The University recognises this routine release of information is consistent with the pro-disclosure principles in the RTI Act and the 'push model' of information disclosure adopted by the Queensland Government.

Anyone can apply for information, however, there is no guarantee that access will be given. Any information, irrespective of format, may be accessed under the scheme. In certain circumstances, the University may expunge some information before providing it, for example:

- where information is irrelevant or Out of Scope of the access request;
- where release of information would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest - refer s39, s49 and Schedule 4 of RTI Act;
- where information is exempt - refer s40, s48 and Schedule 3 of RTI Act; or

- to protect an individual's privacy; or
- to prevent disclosure of confidential or sensitive information.

4 Principles

The following principles will apply:

1. Administrative release is a discretionary process enabling quick access to an individual's personal information (Students and Employees). Other information may be sought by a University Member or the public and released under Administrative Access.
2. The University will ensure that under this policy its Students and Employees can access, under supervision, their own personal information held on their Student or Employee file, except where legislation prevents such release.
3. Where possible, the University will endeavour to release information under Administrative Access negating the need to resort to a formal Right to Information (RTI) or Information Privacy (IP) application.
