

Assessment of Special Circumstances Procedure

1 Purpose

To provide guidance on how the University assesses Special Circumstances and what documentary evidence is needed to support a claim for Special Circumstances.

2 Scope

This procedure applies to all Students.

This procedure acknowledges First Nations peoples cultural practices.

3 Procedure Overview

This procedure explains how the University decides if a situation meets the criteria to be called a Special Circumstance and what supporting evidence is needed.

If a Student is assessed as having Special Circumstances, the way that other University policies and procedures are applied may change. Students who wish to apply for Special Circumstances should follow the application process set out in the relevant policy or procedure, including any applicable timeframes and deadlines.

For the purpose of applying the National Code of Practice for Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students 2018, the definition of Special Circumstances is consistent with references to compassionate and compelling circumstances.

This Procedure aligns with the:

- Higher Education Standards Framework (Threshold Standards) 2021: Standard 1.3 Orientation and Progression

4 Procedures

4.1 Special Circumstances

The University will treat a situation as Special Circumstances when the circumstances:

- were unexpected and outside of the Student's control;

- had a significant impact on the Student's study progress or wellbeing, or their ability to meet a submission deadline; and
- could not have reasonably been anticipated, avoided or guarded against by the Student.

Students with approved Reasonable Adjustments are eligible to apply for Special Circumstances and will be assessed on a case by case basis.

4.1.1 Examples of Special Circumstances for all Students

Special Circumstances can include, but are not limited to:

1. Medical illness or injury, whether existing or new, including physical injury or serious illness and episodes of mental illness or cognitive function impairment;
2. Sad News/Sorry Business, death of a Close Relative or close friend;
3. Hardship or trauma, including unexpected events/accidents, victims of crime, sudden change in domestic arrangements (e.g. homelessness, eviction), unexpected serious financial difficulties or hospitalisation of a family member;
4. Major upheaval or Natural Disaster affecting the Student's place of residence or in the Student's home country or town that has impacted the Student's Close Relatives and which requires the Student to undertake immediate emergency travel;
5. Employment related reasons such as an employer unexpectedly increasing a Student's working hours or an employer-directed transfer of a Student to a new location or redeployment to a different position;
6. An unexpected sporting commitment at the state, national or international representative level;
7. Active Defence Force member, compulsory Defence Reservist or other emergency services mobilisation;
8. Legal commitments such as court appearances or jury selection; and
9. Constraints outside of a Student's control arising from involvement with the justice system.

4.1.2 Examples of Special Circumstances only for International Student visa holders

Additional Special Circumstances for International Student visa holders can include, but are not limited to:

1. inability to begin study in a program on the agreed starting date due to a delay in receiving an International Student visa; and
2. circumstances where the Student's Electronic Confirmation of Enrolment (ECOE) may need to be extended because the Student has failed occasional Courses throughout a program but where these failures have not affected the Student's Academic Progress status. This is in accordance with the National Code of Practice for Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students 2018.

4.2 Circumstances that would not be considered Special Circumstances

The University will not treat a situation as Special Circumstances when the circumstances are:

1. considered to be within the control of a Student; or
2. are to be expected in the normal course of the Student's study, work, family or social life.

4.2.1 Examples that would not be considered Special Circumstances for all Students

1. Instances where the Student's personal travel or holiday plans, including International Students returning home, have made them unable to attend classes or meet required submission timelines, unless other Special Circumstances apply;
2. Failure to understand or ask for clarification of key dates or procedures where a Student could reasonably be expected to have understood or asked for clarification;
3. For Courses with a professional or work placement component, inability to obtain release from the Student's regular paid employment to undertake or complete the placement, unless other Special Circumstances apply;
4. Misreading or failing to ask for clarification of the timing of the Formal Exam as shown on the Student's Formal Exam Schedule;
5. The Course is not what was expected;
6. Minor illnesses (as determined by a registered medical practitioner) or homesickness;
7. An increase in hours or duties of paid or unpaid employment which is at the request of the individual Student;

8. Social and leisure events and activities including sporting commitments not at state, national or international representative level; and
9. A Student not following their planned or expected pattern of Enrolment and/or studying Courses which do not contribute to their program.

4.2.2 Examples that would not be considered Special Circumstances only for International Student visa holders

1. Applications for a letter of release in order to transfer providers within the first six months of their principal program;
2. Instances where the Student is not able to complete their program within the timeframe provided in their ECOE because of failure, without prior academic approval, to enrol in the number of Courses required by their study visa;
3. Inability to pay tuition fees or living costs based on changes to their employment status while working in Australia. Students on an International Student visa must not rely on the proceeds of paid employment to support their studies or living costs.

4.3 Supporting Documents

Documentation supporting requests for Special Circumstances must:

1. identify the circumstances;
2. include dates and/or length of circumstances, for example, the start and end date of an illness or injury; and
3. explain the impact of the circumstances on the Student's study progress or wellbeing, or their ability to meet a submission deadline.

Requests may be delayed or denied if supporting documentation is not provided at the time of application. The University reserves the right to request additional supporting documentation from the Student.

Supporting documentation can include, but is not limited to, the following examples.

Special Circumstance	Examples of Documentation
Medical illness or injury; psychological illness; cognitive function impairment	Medical documentation or psychological report from a registered health practitioner

4.4 Applications for Special Circumstances

Special Circumstances may apply to a range of situations such as Assessment Items, Show Cause submissions or for International Students studying in Australia under an Australian Student visa, taking Leave of Absence for a period of up to 12 months. Students should refer to the relevant policy or procedure for details on how to request that Special Circumstances are taken into consideration for their particular situation and any applicable timeframes.

In the situation where the Course Coordinator requires Students to submit an Assessment

Item prior to the last date for submitting Final Grades for the Course, an extension should be granted rather than a deferral.

The process of admitting Students to one or more Courses for the current Academic Year.
