Email Distribution List

An Email Distribution List is a collection of University Member email account addresses. It provides an easy way to send e-mail messages to a group of people. There are several types of distribution lists:

- Organisational Email Distribution List

ICT Services is responsible for the implementation management and support of Organisational Email Distribution Lists. These lists are based on organisational units or groupings of University Members and are maintained using information from the Human Resources system via the Identity Management system. Employees are unable to opt out of organisational lists. List Owners will be appointed

- Self-subscription Email Distribution List

Email Distribution Lists that Employees may subscribe to according to individual need or interest. Employees may add or remove themselves from the Employee self-subscribe lists.

- Other Email Distribution Groups

The purpose of the group must pertain to University business. Groups with the same membership should not be duplicated. Groups are not open to external University Member subscribers. It is the Group Owner's responsibility to manage the group's subscribers. A group may not be used under any circumstances to participate in or promote activities that are illegal or violate the University's Code of Conduct Policy or the ICT Information Management and Security Policy.

List/Group Owner

	A Nominated position responsible for authorising the sending of email correspondence to a nominated Email Distribution List/Group and responsible for authorising other positions/roles to send to a nominated Email Distribution List/Group.
