

Right to Information Policy

1 Purpose

To establish the management framework to enable the University to meet its compliance obligations under the Right to Information Act 2009 (Qld) (RTI Act).

2 Scope

This policy applies across the University and to the public.

Organisations such as student unions/guilds and associated clubs and societies, employee associations and social clubs, and non-controlled entities are excluded for the purposes of the RTI Act.

3 Policy statement

As a public authority the University, must comply with the requirements of the Right to Information Act 2009 (Qld), the Information Privacy Act 2009 (Qld) and the Public Records Act 2002 (Qld).

As provided in the Preamble to the Right to Information legislation, the Queensland Government's approach to giving the community (public) greater access to Government information is to release information administratively as a matter of course, unless there is good reason not to, with formal applications under the RTI Act as being necessary only as a last resort.

The RTI Act provides a right of access to information held by the University unless, on balance, it is contrary to the public interest to release the information.

The University recognises that:

- Under the RTI Act an individual has a right to access any Document held by the University, subject to considerations such as protection of an individual's privacy, exempt information, public interest factors favouring disclosure and/or non-disclosure of information, and consultation with third parties as required.
- The RTI Act supports and encourages proactive disclosure of information with formal access applications being used as a last resort.
- The RTI Act extends the right of the community (public) to have access to information held by the University with a view to achieving openness and accountability of the University and improving its practices, public administration and quality of decision-making.

- University Members or the public may make a formal application under the RTI Act for access to University information.

The University will:

- process any formal applications, in accordance with the provisions of the RTI Act, using a 'pro-disclosure bias' in deciding access to Documents. (Refer s39 and 44 of the RTI Act);
- meet its statutory reporting obligations on the operation of the RTI Act to the Queensland Government;
- meet its statutory obligations in maintaining an Administrative Access Scheme, Publication Scheme and a Disclosure Log on the University website; and
- comply with any mandatory audit processes, self-assessment reviews and surveys commissioned by the Office of the Information Commissioner (Qld).

4 Principles

The following principles apply with respect to right to information:

- Information will, where possible, be pro-actively released under the University's Administrative Access Scheme, Publication Scheme or Disclosure Log.
- The University will consider responding to applications for information administratively, taking into account the Government's approach that formal applications should be a matter of last resort, whilst recognising the public's right to make formal access applications in any event.
- Access applications will be processed, as per prescribed timeframes, and in accordance with the provisions of the RTI Act.
- The University will maintain a general stance of transparency and openness regarding the information it holds, subject to, the provisions of the Right to Information Act 2009 (Qld), the Information Privacy Act 2009 (Qld) and the Public Records Act 2002 (Qld).
- In accordance with the RTI Act, the Vice-Chancellor is the 'Principal Officer' for all RTI matters. The Vice-Chancellor may delegate this responsibility to an authorised officer as legislated.

5 Appointment of the RTI Coordinator and Decision Maker

As the 'Principal Officer' under the RTI Act, the Vice-Chancellor is responsible for making a determination or decision on access applications made under the Act. The Vice-Chancellor has delegated this responsibility to the Team Leader (Enterprise Information Management Services) or alternatively, in the Team Leader's absence (for periods in excess of three University Business days), the Manager (Enterprise Information Management).

Subject to the limitations of the RTI Instrument of Delegation, the RTI Coordinator and decision-maker and the Manager (Enterprise Information Management) (the authorised officers) will undertake a range of activities to assist the University in meeting its compliance obligations under the RTI Act.
